

LA GIOIA REVIEWS 2001

GAMBERO ROSSO

TRE BICCHIERI

WINE SPECTATOR

91 pts

Extremely classy, with blackberry, currant and lightly toasted oak on the nose. Full-bodied, with very silky tannins and a long, long finish. Always well-done. Best after 2005. 775 cases made, 200 cases imported.

WINE ADVOCATE – ROBERT PARKER

93 pts

The 2001 La Gioia is a joyous example of Sangiovese at its very best, powerful on the nose with sizeable and weighty notes of rich berry fruit, violets, and incense, dense and elegant on the palate with ripe and chocolatey berry fruit, superb focus, and a perfect fusion of the fruit and the oak.
