

LA GIOIA REVIEWS 2003

WINE SPECTATOR

89 pts

Fresh and fruity, with lots of plum and floral character. Full-bodied, with fine tannins and a delicious vanilla and berry aftertaste. Balanced and fruity for the vintage. Sangiovese and Merlot. Best after 2007. 1,215 cases made.

WINE ADVOCATE – ROBERT PARKER

93 pts

The 2001 La Gioia is a joyous example of Sangiovese at its very best, powerful on the nose with sizeable and weighty notes of rich berry fruit, violets, and incense, dense and elegant on the palate with ripe and chocolatey berry fruit, superb focus, and a perfect fusion of the fruit and the oak.
